

Employee Attrition Analytics

JobRole

Healthcare Representa...

Human Resources

Laboratory Technician

Manager

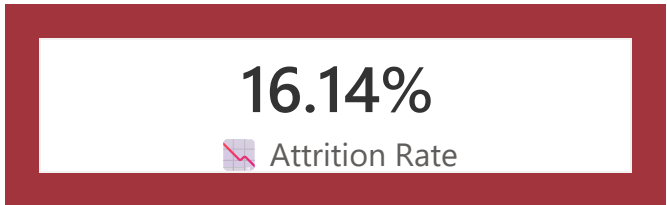

Manufacturing Director

Research Director

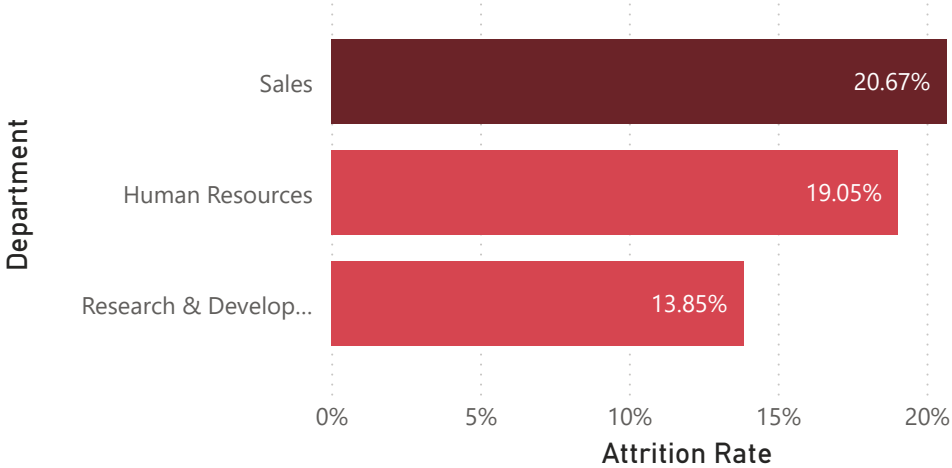

Research Scientist

Sales Executive

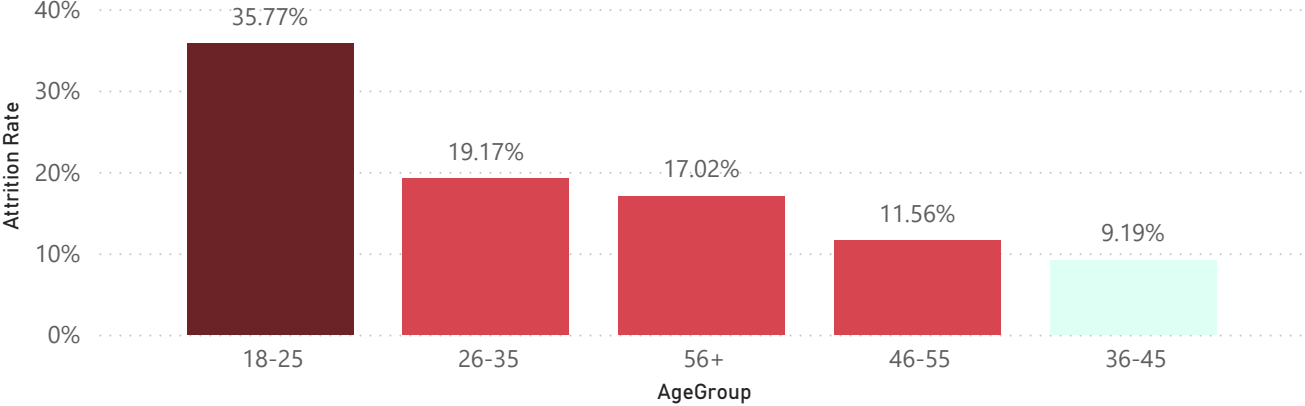

Sales Representative

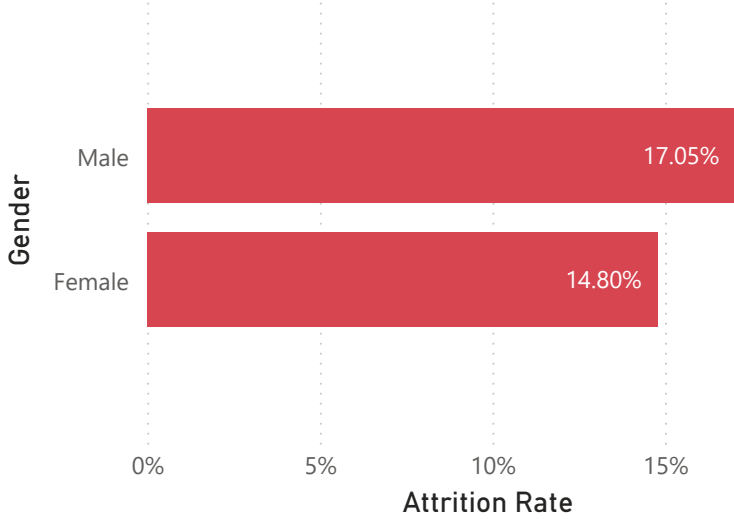

Departments with Highest Attrition

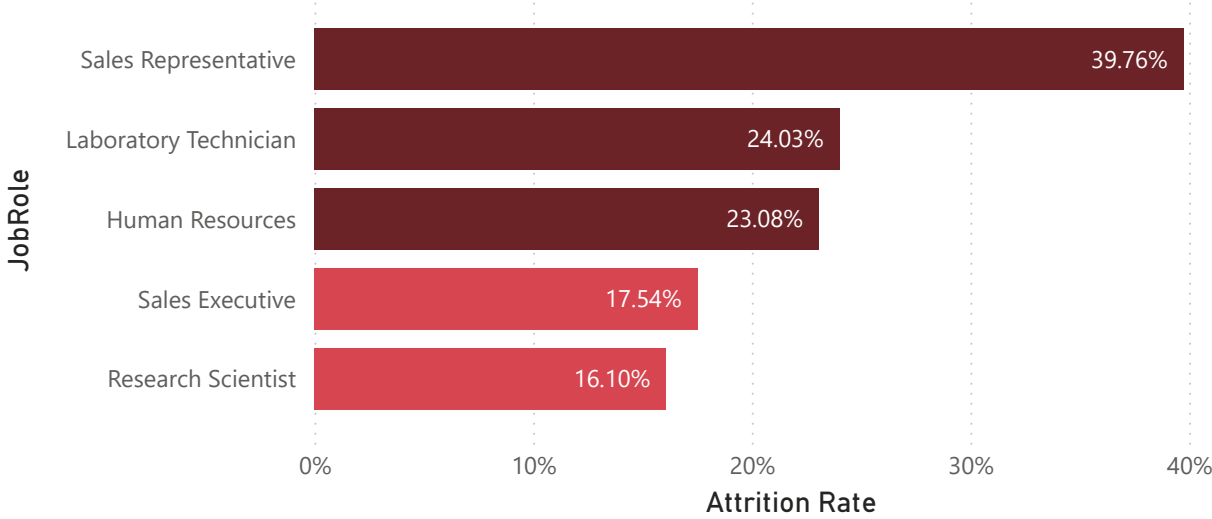

Attrition Rate by AgeGroup

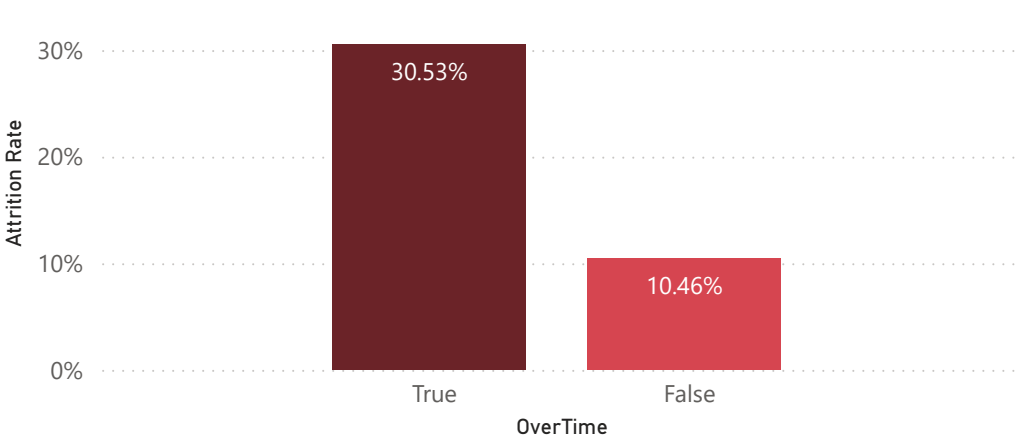

Attrition Rate by Gender

Top 5 Attrition Rate by JobRole

Attrition Rate by OverTime

Overall Attrition: 16.1% Highest attrition department: Sales (20.7%) Highest attrition job role: Sales Representative (39.8%) Highest attrition age group: 18-25 Employees working overtime have higher attrition (30.5%) than employ...

Department

Human Resources

Research & Develop...

Sales

Gender

Female

Male

AgeGroup

18-25

26-35

36-45

46-55

56+

JobRole

☐

Healthcare Represe...

☐

Human Resources

☐

Laboratory Technici...

☐

Manager

☐

Manufacturing Dire...

☐

Research Director

EMPLOYEE RISK & BEHAVIOUR ANALYSIS

Department

☐

Human Resources

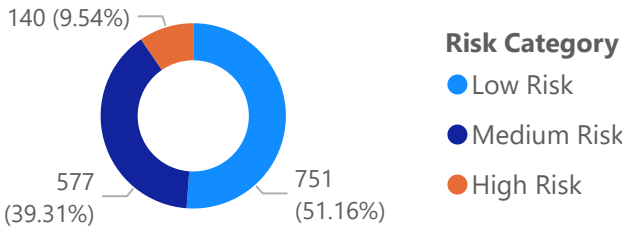

☐

Research & Development

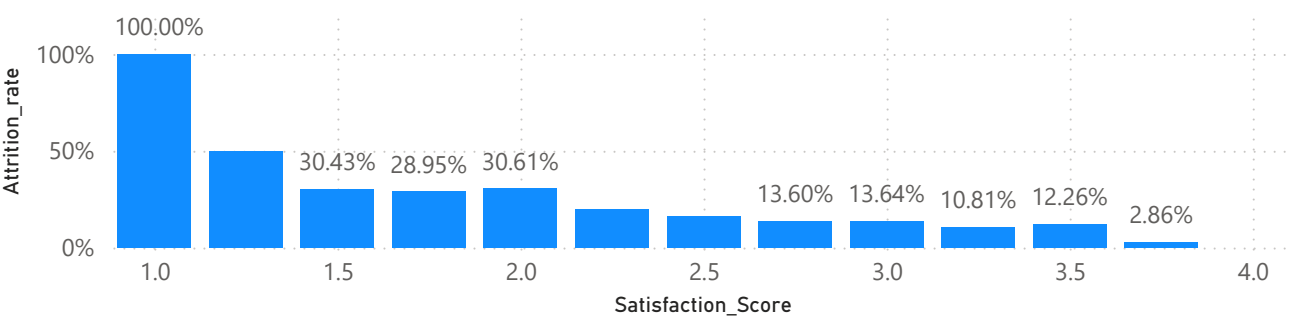

☐

Sales

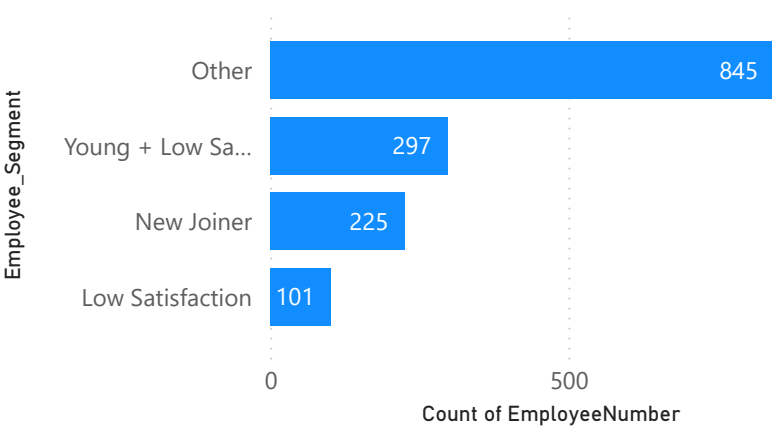

Employees by Risk Segment

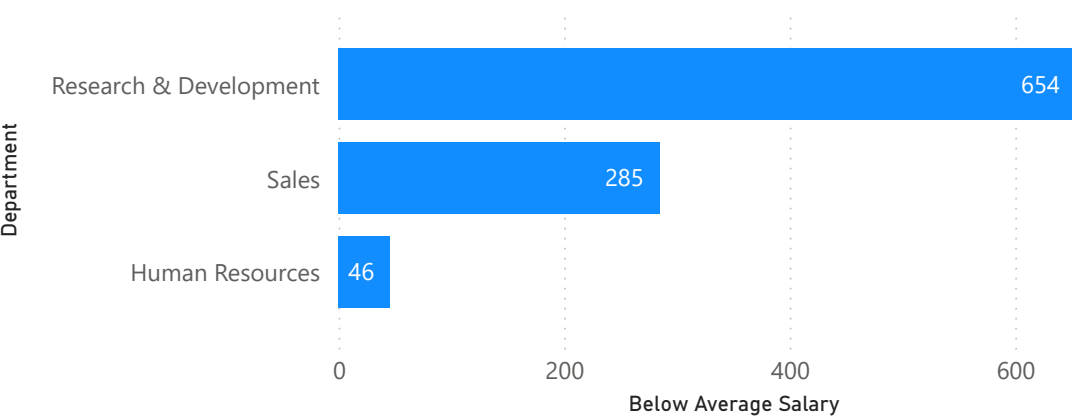

Attrition Rate by Satisfaction Score

Count of EmployeeNumber by Employee_Segment

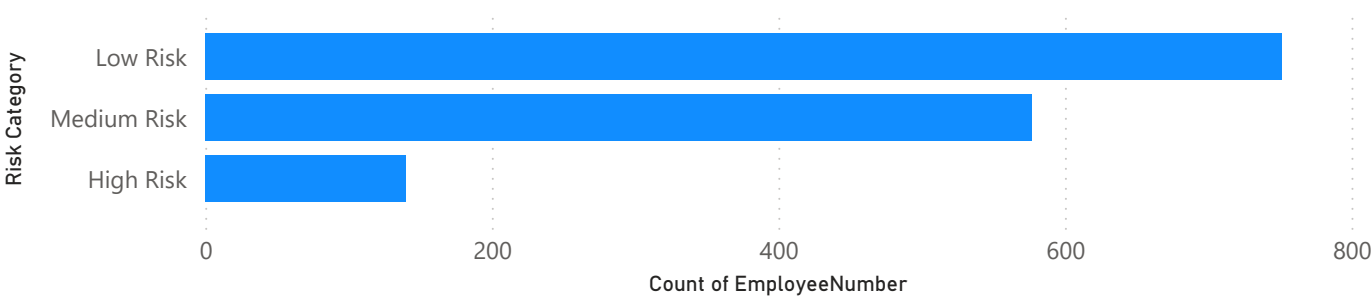

985 Employees Below Dept. Avg. Salary

High-Risk % by Department.

Department	High Risk Employees	Sum of EmployeeNumber	High Risk %
Research & Development	96	965182	10.00%
Sales	41	461305	9.21%
Human Resources	3	75932	4.76%
Total	140	1502419	9.54%

High-Risk Employees by Risk Category

KEY INSIGHTS

- Employee Risk

R&D has the highest number of high-risk employees.
- Employee Experience

Lower satisfaction scores are associated with higher attrition.
- Compensation

Approximately 67% of employees earn below their department's average salary.
- Retention

New joiners and employees with low satisfaction represent important groups for retention monitoring.

AgeGroup

☐

18-25

☐

26-35

☐

36-45

☐

46-55

☐

56+

TenureBand

☐

0-2 Yrs (...)

☐

11-20 Yrs...

☐

20+ Yrs (...)

☐

3-5 Yrs (E...

☐

6-10 Yrs (...)

Attrition Drivers

- JobRole
- ☐ Healthcare Repres...
 - ☐ Human Resources
 - ☐ Laboratory Technic...
 - ☐ Manager
 - ☐ Manufacturing Dir...
 - ☐ Research Director
 - ☐ Research Scientist
 - ☐ Sales Executive
 - ☐ Sales Representative

- Gender
- ☐ Female
 - ☐ Male

- AgeGroup
- ☐ 18-25
 - ☐ 26-35
 - ☐ 36-45
 - ☐ 46-55
 - ☐ 56+

- Department
- ☐ Human Resou...
 - ☐ Research & D...
 - ☐ Sales

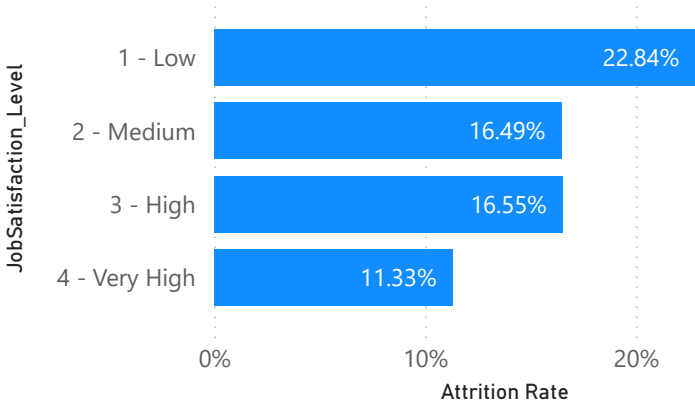

Attrition by OverTime

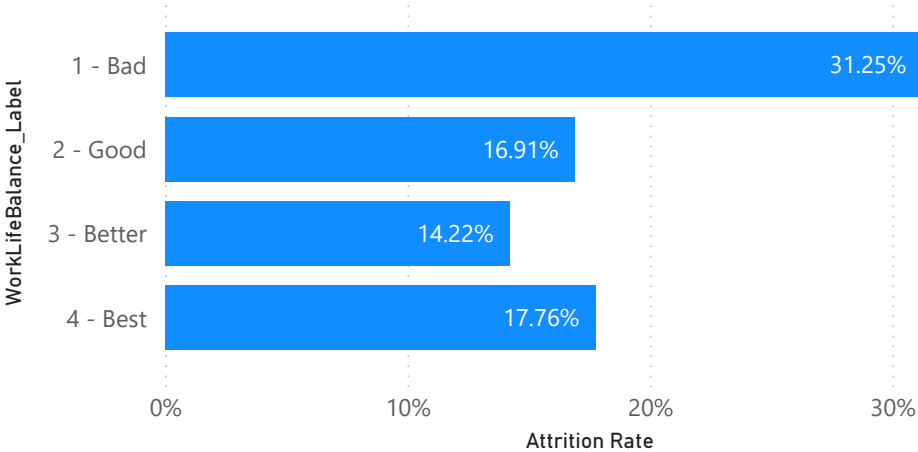

Attrition Rate by EnvironmentSatisfaction_label

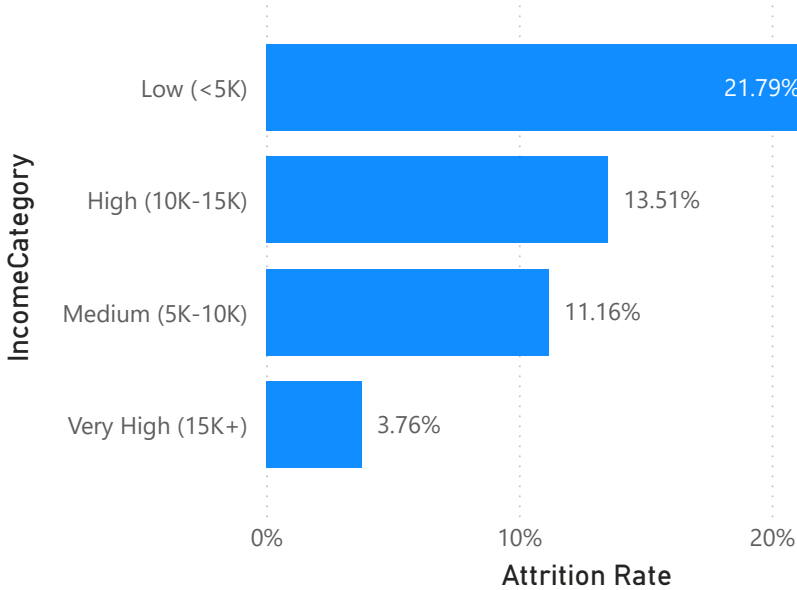

Attrition by JobSatisfaction

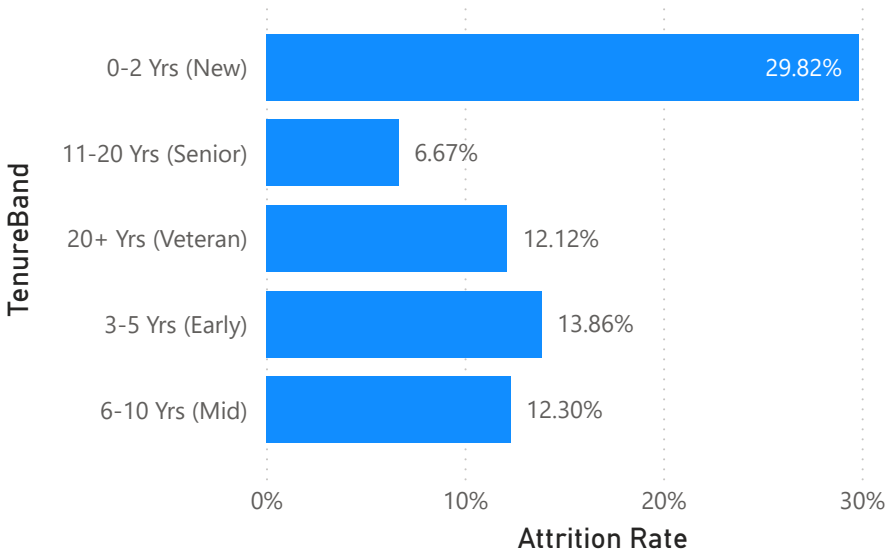

Attrition by Work-life-balance

Attrition by Income Category

Attrition by Tenure Band

Recommendation

Finding

Business Impact

Recommendation

Sales has significant attrition	High turnover can affect customer relationships and revenue	Review sales targets, incentives, workload and career progr
Poor Work-Life Balance linked with attrition	Employees may experience stress and burnout	Promote flexible working, workload reviews and manager s
Overtime employees have higher attrition	Excessive workload may increase burnout and turnover	Review overtime patterns and workload distribution; introd
Low satisfaction across multiple dimensions	Multiple workplace issues can increase overall employee risk	Prioritise employees with multiple low satisfaction scores fo
Low Job Satisfaction linked with higher attrition	Dissatisfied employees are more likely to leave	Conduct regular employee surveys and create department-
Low Environment Satisfaction linked with attrition	Poor workplace experience may reduce employee engagement	Improve workplace conditions and provide channels for en
Long-tenured employees may also require engagement	Experienced employees leaving can result in knowledge loss	Introduce career development, recognition and internal mo
High-risk employees identified by Risk Score	Organisation may lose employees with several risk factors	Create a monthly high-risk employee review process and a
Employees with short tenure have higher risk	New employees may leave before becoming fully productive	Introduce stronger onboarding, mentoring and 30/60/90-c
Employees with lower income may show higher attrition	Financial dissatisfaction may contribute to turnover	Review salary bands, progression opportunities and rewar
Employees earning below department average show higher risk	Perceived pay inequality can encourage employees to leave	Review compensation against departmental averages and i
Certain job roles have higher attrition	Concentrated turnover can affect productivity and recruitment costs	Conduct role-specific retention reviews and investigate wo

